The wine branch press calls Fred Loimer a “quality maniac”, while he sees himself simply as a vintner with courage and pleasure in innovation. His reputation as a talented enologist is far reaching. Falstaff Magazine awarded Fred Loimer as “Vintner of the Year” in 2002 and his Riesling Steinmassl 2002 won the “Dry Riesling Trophy” at the International Wine Challenge.

Loimer took charge of the family winery in 1998 and now cultivates around 28 hectares of vineyards devoted largely to white wines like Riesling, Chardonnay, Pinot Gris, and in particular Grüner Veltliner (50 % of the vineyards area) in squeaky clean top quality. An insider tip is the Pinot Noir Langenlois Terrassen and the single vineyard wine Dechant. The typical regional variety Grüner Veltliner excels in all its variations, from the uncomplicated, feather-light “LOIS” to the traditional, peppery “Kamptal Veltliner” and the classy oak matured single vineyard wines “Käferberg” and “Spiegel”, sourced from old vines. If the vintage allows it, Fred Loimer also produces Grüner Veltliner, and in particular Riesling, up to the sweet botrytized Trockenbeerenauslese category. The newly built cellar and living quarters caused quite a stir among the cognoscenti: a stunningly modern, minimalist black building with a breathtaking view of the Heiligenstein. Also worth viewing is the astounding castle cellar for maturing wines.

Another project of the dynamic vintner is “Schellmann”, which is located in the Thermenregion.

(91-93) Riesling DAC Reserve 2009 Steinmassl

93 Riesling DAC Reserve 2008 Steinmassl

Medium green-yellow. An attractive bouquet of vineyard peach, pineapple, lychee and blossom honey follow through on the palate, where the wine’s fine fruity sweetness is harmoniously accompanied by brilliant acidity. This harmonious and elegant yet fairly full-bodied riesling finishes with appetizing white peach and lime on the long, sharply focused finish.

Spiegel

93 Grüner Veltliner DAC Reserve 2008 Spiegel

Medium green-yellow. Inviting aromas and flavors of green-gage plum, mango, Mirabelle plum, lemon verbena, thyme and blossom honey. This complex wine has a fine-boned acid structure within its voluptuous fruit, with solid minerality contributing to the wine's firm framework. The finish is long and suave, with mouthcoating peppered grapefruit and plum.
